What the World Needs Now

As we begin a new year perhaps we all should take a good look at the society we live in. A close scrutiny of our interplay with one another, interaction that might be better described as inter-reaction, would reveal a series of mutual confrontations. Out of these confrontations come frustrations and the cynicism that permeates the fiber of our world at the local, national, and international level.

This confrontation oftentimes takes not the form of opposition to troubles and achieve the result of, as Hamlet said, to end them, but rather to further polarize opposing forces. There are those who rejoice in the conflict created, and do little to "soothe the fevered brow," or "calm the troubled waters."

What is needed is more of a spirit of communication, compassion, and cooperation. Communication to learn of each other's concerns and problems; compassion to understand the other side's fears, hopes and aspirations; and cooperation to reach an amicable solution. To this might be added compromise, for there is nothing that says any one person or group or nation is always right. It wouldn't permanently injure anyone's psyche to have a twinge of conscience and realize that the other fellow may be right after all.

Much has been said about the tradition that in this country we have a "government of laws, and not of men." This phrase appeared in the original draft of the Massachusetts constitution in 1779. It has been widely disregarded by all who thought they had special privilege since that time.

Always have there been those held so high in their own esteem, that public law or custom was a barrier for the other fellow. Generally these people are extremely zealous in the protection of their rights and privileges, while ignoring those same rights possessed by another.

The company of the self-righteous is not confined to members of any income level, of any age group, nor any natural division of society. As a matter of fact to some degree or other we have all been guilty of it, as we adopt the attitude of "what's mine is mine, and what's yours is negotiable."

This is a good time of year to resolve to remove from our little corner of the world perpetual confrontation between groups, and to exhibit more of a willingness to communicate and cooperate, showing compassion for others and guarding against pomposity and self-righteousness.

As a result of our attempts perhaps we can reduce the number of "us who, as the song says:

"... only put in a nickle
But want a dollar song."

STATE C. D. OFFICE RELEASES FIGURES FOR STATE'S QUOTA OF HEATING OIL FOR JANUARY

Timothy P. Wilson, Director of the Maine Bureau of Civil Defense, has released the figures for the percentages of fuel to be delivered into Maine this January. In all cases, the percentages have increased over last month.

The figures are a percentage of the amount of each type of fuel delivered to Maine during January 1973. Also provided are the comparable statistics for December.

In December, 1973, Maine received 87.4% of the No. 2 home heating oil that was delivered in December 1972. This January, the state will receive 88.7% of the No. 2 home heating oil delivered in January 1973.

The amount of kerosene delivered last month was 85.6% of December 1972. In January, 86.8% of January 1973's allotment will be delivered.

The percentage of diesel fuel has also risen over that delivered last month. In December of this year, 69.9% of the previous December's amount found its way into Maine, and in the coming month, 91.0% of the previous January's gallonage will be delivered.

Many of the oil companies complied with the federal regulations—which require the monthly report of products to be delivered—by insuring that their figures were either received by the Bureau of Civil Defense, or were in the mail to the Bureau of Civil Defense, five days before the end of December as the regulations specify. Those cooperating were Getty Oil, Citgo, American Oil, Sun Oil, Texaco, Northeast Petroleum and Exxon.

All other companies, with the exception of the BP Oil Company, responded to a telegram sent by Gov. Kenneth Curtis, and called in their figures to the State Fuel Allocation Office over the telephone.

Gibbs Oil Company of Revere, Mass., was extremely cooperative, but their figures were necessarily incomplete, because BP Oil is one of their major suppliers. Gibbs was able, however, to supply percentages.

"Most of the oil dealers and major suppliers have been extremely cooperative in helping the people of Maine know where they will stand during January," Wilson concluded.

TO APPEAR AT RUMFORD—The De Cormier Singers are an electrifying group, singing a program selected from the vast song repertoire of many nations and presented with all the verve and excitement of a theatrical entertainment. This group of 14 men and women vocalists, plus three instrumentalists will appear in Rumford on Monday, Jan. 7, at 8:15 p. m. at the Muskie Auditorium, under the auspices of Rumford Community Concerts.

Under the guidance of Robert De Cormier and his associates the Singers present a new concept in concert entertainment. The aim is to recreate the cultures of many lands through all artistic means. Variety is the keynote of programs with songs from England, Scotland, Ireland, Norway, Russia, Poland, Croatia, French Canada, Africa and the West Indies. There is a group of American folk songs showing the tremendous variety of cultural backgrounds and activities in this vast nation. There is a group of the incomparable spirituals of the American Negro.

To this splendid wealth of material the rich voices of the singers blend in magnificent sound. The varied instrumental accompaniment provides appropriate shades of natural color. And to the art of singing has been brought the resources of the theater. Movement is fused with song. Lighting enhances the mood. Thus, the group can transport its audiences instantly from the wilds of Africa to the fjords of Scandinavia, from the steppes of Russia to the hills of Tennessee.

It is no wonder that the concerts of the De Cormier Singers have been hailed as a unique theatrical experience.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

We are receiving some complaints about snow machines traveling in the village area without permission from property owners. One of the laws prohibits riding within 200 feet of a dwelling unless the owner gives permission. A booklet of Snow Machine Laws is enclosed with the 1974 registration of the machines.

Mrs. Olson, who works in the Town Office, has been out sick for a while. She returned Wednesday to resume her duties. There have been others in to assist on a part-time basis. The billing for water and sewage is a little late as a result of Mrs. Olson not being in.

The auditor for the town books is expected the last of the month. We have to prepare the town records prior to his arrival.

The Budget Committee met for the first time Wednesday night. They will be in session on a weekly basis until they have completed their work.

Although we have not plowed as much snow as usual we have used a lot of the winter sand. Salt has not been used to the extent we normally use it. The expense has been somewhat lower in December as a result of not having to purchase that item.

BETHEL HOSPITAL AUXILIARY TO MEET MONDAY

DECEMBER FLOODS CAUSE OVER $5¼ MILLION DAMAGE IN MAINE

Over five and a quarter million dollar damage to public and private roads, culverts, bridges, homes and businesses is the result of floods in Maine during December according to Timothy P. Wilson, director, Maine Bureau of Civil Defense. Governor Kenneth M. Curtis has requested that Maine be proclaimed a disaster area by President Nixon. $3,053,141 was the amount reported to Civil Defense officials as damages to public facilities. This includes $500,000, damages to State and Federal highways, Wilson said.

He said that damage to private property, which has nearly reached the 2.3 million dollar mark, will be handled by the Small Business Administration and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Maine Employment Security will deal with wages lost, due to flooding.

Public damages by counties was reported as follows:

Androscoggin, $151,000; Aroostook, $41,000; Cumberland, $13,500; Franklin, $59,800; Kennebec, $1,537,200; Knox, $53,500; Lincoln, $88,000; Oxford, $39,872; Penobscot, $67,000; Piscataquis, $161,000; Sagadahoc, $26,000; Somerset, $134,094; Waldo, $173,725; Washington, $8,000.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO MEET JANUARY 10 AT MASON HOUSE

The January meeting of the Bethel Historical Society will be held on January 10, 7:30 in the barn of the Moses Mason House. This is a change from the usual "first Thursday" schedule, for this meeting only, due to many members' preoccupation with the holiday season. The program, as previously outlined for the cancelled December meeting, will deal with the Chapman House as one of the Historical Bethel houses; also the Education Committee will present a selection of topics for research projects concerning Bethel's history, to be followed up during the coming winter.

The Society looks forward to renewal of its usual diversified activities, new activities centering around the Moses Mason House, increased membership and continued enthusiasm in 1974.

POSTAGE INCREASE DELAYED UNTIL MARCH 2

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen announced last Friday that the U. S. Postal Service will delay scheduled rate increases until March 2 as a result of a Cost of Living Council directive calling for a 15% reduction in the increase.

The postage increases, which were scheduled to go into effect Jan. 5, would raise first class rates from eight to 10 cents and air mail rates from 11 to 13 cents, as well as increases in all other postal rate categories.

"In trying to take into account all points of view and considering every alternative," Klassen said in a statement, "we have concluded that in order to comply with the Cost of Living Council's directive that our rate increase scheduled for Jan. 5 will be deferred until March 2."

The council had ordered a 15% reduction in the scheduled rate increases and suggested that one way to implement this would be to delay the rate hike.

Postal authorities said the two month delay would result in a loss of about $235 million in revenue to the Postal Service.

HUNTING LICENSE SALES INCREASE IN MAINE DURING 1973

The sale of resident hunting licenses allowing the taking of deer in Maine increased about 6% in 1973 over the previous calendar year.

Exact figures are not complete, but a projection by Ralph C. Will, Maine Fish and Game Dept. business manager, shows an expected total of 168,000 resident licenses. This compares with the official total of 158,816 for 1972.

Licenses included in the projection are resident hunting, combination, guide, serviceman, and junior hunting, all of which allow deer hunting.

Non-resident deer license sales will probably show a 1½% increase, with preliminary figures indicating a total of about 30,000. This includes the big game and guide licenses. The 1972 total was 29,700.

HALF MILLION DOLLAR FIRE DESTROYS TOWN/COUNTRY INN AT SHELburne ON WEEK END

The main complex of the Town and Country Motor Inn in Shelburne, N. H., was destroyed by fire late Saturday night causing an estimated $500,000 worth of damage, fire officials said.

Lost in the blaze were the lounge, dining and banquet rooms, kitchen area and upstairs motel units.

Firemen from Gorham, Shelburne, Cascades, Milan and Berlin, N. H., battled the blaze well into the early Sunday morning hours.

Phil Labnon of the Town and Country said he first noticed smoke coming into the lounge area through an ice chest at about 10 p. m. When he went downstairs to investigate, he found the entire stockroom ablaze.

At that time, more than 300 persons were in the dining and lounge areas along with guests staying in the motel units above the complex. All were evacuated safely.

The fire burned for several hours and at its height at about 12:15 a. m. could be seen from miles around. Firemen were hindered by strong winds which fanned the fire and at one time threatened another set of motel units just a few yards away. Firefighters watered down surrounding units as burning cinders landed on their rooftops.

By 2 a. m. Sunday, the main complex of the Town and Country was leveled but the adjoining 24-unit motel section was saved.

Firemen were at the scene throughout the day Sunday.

Two persons were taken to the Androscoggin Valley Hospital, Berlin, from the fire. A Milan fireman, James Tennis, 26, suffered a severe cut to the arm while fighting the blaze. Tennis received first aid treatment at the scene from the Androscoggin Valley Emergency Services District Ambulance. Also, a guest at the Town and Country, John Fox, 51, of Ontario, Can., was hospitalized overnight for smoke inhalation.

The stock room where the fire started contained a variety of supplies, liquor, food and equipment.

Labnon said the Town and Country would be rebuilt as soon as arrangement could be made. More than 75 persons were employed at the establishment.

In the spring of 1971, another fire heavily damaged the kitchen, upstairs motel units, dining room and lounge at a cost of $100,000.

RUMFORD HOSPITAL AUXILIARY PLANS ANNUAL MEETING —WINS BLUE RIBBON AWARD

The Auxiliary of the Rumford Community Hospital will hold its annual meeting at a "Dutch Treat" luncheon on Tuesday, Jan. 8, at Madison's Restaurant, East Rumford, beginning at 12:30 p. m.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Norman Jensen, president, said the Health Information Forum, which the Auxiliary has co-sponsored with the hospital since 1971, has been awarded a Blue Ribbon Exhibit by the New England Hospital Assembly. The exhibit, "Community Auxiliary—New Way to Extend the Hospital," will be prepared for exhibition during the New England Hospital Assembly, Boston, March 24 to 27, 1974, along with other exhibits selected because of their exceptional educational value to hospitals throughout New England.

Mrs. Jensen said further details on the exhibit would be presented during the annual meeting.

Harry M. Lowd, III, hospital director, will attend as guest speaker. Annual reports will be presented by chairmen of various committees. Mrs. Stanley Masalsky, chairman of the nominating committee, will submit the slate of officers for the coming year. Elections will be held and officers installed.

An open invitation is extended to anyone who is interested in learning more about the work of the Auxiliary. Luncheon reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Masalsky, 144 Lincoln Avenue, Rumford, at 361-8505, by noon on January 7.

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. — Yesterday was misty; tomorrow there may be snow, but today there was sunshine so I ventured out for my first walk in over a week.

There was a scent of April in the air; the muddy smell of the pond and I could imagine that spring was singing with a soft voice. The air was balmy and warm. The morning stretched and smiled after its thorough washing.

All the brooks along the road were quickened silver as they sang their ways to the pond.

At the ledges where a huge rock thrust out like a headland; eroded into a wrinkled pattern of gray dripped long glistening spikes of ice. The sun turned them to a kaleidoscope of color and the sparkle of diamonds. I paused to take a picture and to reflect on the fact that a year ago this day I had gone to the swamp, crossing the pond on snowshoes. Today this same pond looked like a mass of floating islands. Some acted like outboards gone crazy.

In the distance Sanborn River tumbled and roared.

The tall brown grasses in places by the pond and along the roadside were truly beautiful. The breeze coming from the west kept the grasses rolling while it and the trees sang in shrill sibilance; the winds way of conversation. It was only the dried remains of last summer's growth which had borne up and was so delicate standing here as drops of water trickled down the myriad stems and blades, but beautiful. Dead stalks, free of encumbrance, were performing their ballet to the wind, before becoming a nutrient to new growth to surge again soon from the soil.

Along the ditches and through the culverts water gurgled sharing chuckles in undertones of contentment and promise.

In the far distance at some places in the forests I watched the fog rise slowly in scattered columns out of the woods mounting against the slopes of the trees toward the crest of the hills, appearing and disappearing, forming and reforming.

Across the pond my "Niagara" was boiling white, savage and cold. I could just see it through an opening in the trees and wished I could be near to see it burst out of its foam and tumble from ledge to ledge.

Going to where the road passes between the ponds I could see that the water at Turtle Bridge was just receding from the road.

I turned toward home to face the warm flow of air. I could detect the change of temperatures in different places; sometimes warm sometimes cool.

The mountains were in the distance. I love their great masses breaking into the blue or blocking out the stars at night. Climbing them to their summits with the world below is a challenge. But standing below and studying their faces one gets to know their personalities. A mountain like a person is never the same. They vary with seasons or from day to day; in light, in storm, in shadow; showing a different mood. To know a mountain one must live with it.

Blue jays flashed among the apple trees at the Lowe place. I thought of Thoreau's description of their call. "The unrelenting steel-cold scream of a jay, that never flows into a song, a sort of wintery trumpet, screaming, cold, hard, tense, frozen music, like the winter sky itself." Somehow they didn't fit as well with the landscape today.

Now I could see the tendrils of smoke curl up in spirals from my chimney top, for today I had a wood fire. My windows gleamed against the evergreens where the hill climbs toward the sky. A sense of peace was caught in the quiet valley.

Finding Security In Retirement

During the working years it is important to consider the level of monthly income a couple will need five or ten years after they retire—not the amount they can comfortably get by on during the first year of retirement. For too many retired persons the golden years quickly become tarnished after four or five years into retirement because of inflation. Despite periodic increases in Social Security benefits, the perennial increases in the cost of living put too many fixed-income retirees on a relentless economic treadmill.

Social Security benefits often help recipients to just about catch up with the advances in the cost of living, but to get ahead of the cost of living is very rare with just Social Security.

Inflation has taken its effect in just the past decade. In 1962 sirloin steaks were generally available for 68 cents a pound. What do you pay for sirloin steaks today?

Although steak prices have almost tripled over the last decade, average retirement income—including Social Security benefits—have only climbed about 75 percent during that same period.

Planning is so important, but it is important to realize that we live in a flexible economy and the cost of living today might be radically different than the costs in 10 more years. A well-planned family financial program during the working years may help to assure that the sirloins need not stop when you reach age 65.

NORTHWEST BETHEL

Mrs. Louise B. Chapman, Corres.
A new year has been ushered in. 1973 is no longer. We now look back, to what was, and ahead to what we hope will be - a HAPPY new year. Each person has his own memories, good and bad, of the year gone by. Each person now has a brand new year in which to change the things he doesn't like, and to better the things he does like. Doesn't everyone feel like resolving something during the coming months? A resolution, kept or broken, is a resolution! If it was important enough to think about, maybe we should do just that - 1974 has started out white, and hopefully, left the rains behind in 1973. It's more like winter now, than it had been before.

The quiet of the post holiday season is evident here on the "backside". Families have enjoyed the togetherness of the season, and until next week there really isn't much more to add, except happy new year.

CARD OF THANKS
We would like to take this opportunity to thank all our friends and neighbors in Bethel for the concern and kindness shown us after the fire to our restaurant. Special thanks go to the fire and police departments for their swiftness and efficiency in putting things under control. It's heartening to know we have men of this caliber protecting our lives and property.

Sincerely,
Laura and Bill Lynch

Avoid Predicaments...

Shape Up or Skiing Can Get You Down

Skiers should get into shape before taking to the slopes this winter to assure a safer ski season, according to Dr. Jack End, Medical Director of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, Milwaukee.

A veteran ski patrol member and health expert for the nation's seventh largest life insurer, Dr. End estimates that this season more than 200,000 skiers in the U.S. will take tumble serious enough to cause a fracture, sprain or cut — that's roughly one per 1,000 skiing hours.

There will be increased emphasis this season on campaigns to curb skiing beyond one's capability (the greatest cause of dangerous falls), Dr. End notes, but he adds that physical conditioning can be a big help in building the strength and stamina to pull out of those predicaments a skier is bound to get into.

His exercise program for a safe and enjoyable ski season calls for:

- Leg lifts and situps that condition the abdomen to handle the bumps common to ski slopes.
- Walking up and down stairs

(most effective when walking down backwards) to limber up and to condition the temperamental Achilles tendon.

- Toe stands and half knee bends to guard against the skier's most common malady — knee and ankle injury.

Dr. End also emphasizes endurance type activities that put stress on the heart and lungs such as swimming, cycling, jogging and running. His year around daily routine includes rising at 5:45 a.m. to run 2½ miles.

And, at Northwestern Mutual, the 55-year-old physician spurs the use of elevators and runs up and down the stairs that lead to his seventh floor office.

New Year's Day—snowy and rainy—as it was two years ago today—when all security was taken away and I had to cope with Life at its deepest level. It was the divine will of God for me to accept what comes and grow because of it. Thy will be done.

I REMEMBER

BY THE OLD TIMER

From Mary Jane Lowry, Bos-som, Texas: I remember the de-licious expectancy of moving the end of a straw in the bottom of a doodlebug's house and waiting for the first flick of its head at the sudden intrusion.

Sitting on the back steps with the cake frosting bowl between my knees, scraping the last sugary particles and feeling them melt on my tongue.

Smelling the world after a spring rain had washed all the leaves and blades of grass until they sparkled and shone like bright green emeralds.

Walking barefoot in hot sand that sent shivers of delight to every nerve.

Nights so still and starry one scarcely wanted to breathe and break the awesome silence.

Locusts and katydid in the dead of summer with their in-cessant chirr, and raincrows with their pleading refrain in the late afternoon.

And, remembering, I know how rich God made me with wealth beyond measure, and I humbly thank Him!

SKI TIME
America's Great Wintertime Sport
First of a Series
By Pat Dudgeon

INTRODUCTION TO SKIING
• Schoos, Schoos, Weeeeee. "Bend your knees, please." White winter-time. Mountains. Bright, shiny colors flashing through the snow covered trails. People sliding silently downhill with their feet fastened to brilliant-colored boards. What is this seemingly risky sport all about? Is it just another thing to do? A fad? Why do such great hordes of people leave their suburban security to take on the most majestic of mountains under the severest of conditions? And pay to do so? Is this for real? Young and old, men and women alike risking their very limbs for what? Why do so many go so far so fast in order to glide, slide, slip and slither down mountains, across ridges and through valleys basked in the ivory white of winter? Whatever the reasons for these and many more questions about skiing one thing is certain — again this year millions of Americans will be flocking to the hundreds of ski areas that have sprung up in this nation's mountains. Most people who try it seem to enjoy this participative sport. Some are forever fearful that broken bones await somewhere on the next hill. An ever-increasing number look upon skiing as a way of life. In the articles that follow we're going to try and discover what it is about this rapidly growing form of exercise that makes it so popular. Let's start at the beginning.

HISTORY OF SKIING
Skiing in one form or another originated in Scandinavia. As many as 5,000 years ago wood skis were fashioned for use in travel, hunting and even warfare. Gods and goddesses of skiing are alluded to throughout Viking classics. It wasn't until the middle of the nineteenth century, though, that skiing as a sport began to emerge. It was then that ski-carnivals started to flourish in Norway.
Using skis weighing twenty-five pounds and measuring twelve feet in length, and with one stick used as a brake, participants competed in jumping events, and cross-country races.

Mountain Sport
The Norwegian miners who came to America and its mountains in search of gold brought with them their almost fanatical interest in skiing. With the gold rush in full swing skiing competition within the camps provided relief from the heavy workload. Thus the seeds of skiing were sown in the mining towns of the Sierras and Rockies.
Skiing served other purposes too. Until the railroads were completed it was a vital winter land connection and kept the mail moving. By the 1890's professional's were ski-jumping for cash prizes in such unlikely places as Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and New Hampshire.
Modern-day skiing has its roots in central Europe. Around the turn of the century many refinements were begun in order to adapt known ski techniques to the steeper Alps. Downhill skiing replaced jumping and cross-country as interest was sparked in Austria, France and Switzerland. Shorter skis were introduced and two poles began to be utilized. Ski schools began to burgeon.
All these influences spread to the mountains of the Northeastern United States and by 1932 Lake Placid, New York was playing host to only the third Winter Olympic Games. From that landmark the sport of skiing in America has grown to the appreciable size and stature it enjoys today in the outdoor recreation industry. The skiing boom here was helped along by many factors.
Chief among them were the importation of European instructors and the introduction of mechanical ways to get skiers back up the hill.
Sun Valley, Idaho was developed by the Union Pacific Railroad in 1936. By this time the railroads were hauling thousands of skiers into the Eastern ski areas and thus such an enterprise was a natural outlet for Union Pacific capital. The first chair lifts were designed and built by their engineers and a whole new age in skiing began to emerge. It wasn't until after World War II, though, that skiing began to take the shape on which it exists today. And that brings us conveniently into the subject of our next article — Skiing Today in The USA.

(NEWS OF EARTH, ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY)

|---|---|---|
| 305 Gallons per person 1950 |  | 460 Gallons per person 1970 |

The total energy consumption in 1970, 54,000 trillion BTU's, is equivalent to 6 gallons of petroleum a day for each person. The energy released by 6 gallons of oil represents an 80-fold multiplication of the energy expenditure of the average man.

This expenditure of energy has made possible the life we live to- day. The products and the con- veniences, the comforts and the luxuries all carry an energy price tag. Consider air conditioning, in 1970, it was 460. Our use of Today, most office buildings and natural gas quadrupled in the last 20 years; petroleum use doubled, electricity more than doubled since 1960 and is expected to double again by 1980. The only among us would be the first to do drop is in hard coal, the produc- tion of which is half what it was ten years ago.

The absolute figures are stag- gering. We used 93 billion gallons of gasoline in 1970, and 1.5 tril- lion kilowatt hours of electricity. is here.

NEW SERVICES ANNOUNCED
AGED, BLIND AND DISABLED

New Federal money will provide expanded services to rehabilitate the disabled, with the transfer of Aid to the Aged, Blind and Disabled to Supplemental Security Income (SSI) on January 1, 1974. Services will especially benefit welfare recipients being transferred to SSI.

Stanley Brown, Director, Vocational Rehabilitation for the Department of Health and Welfare, says to date there has never been sufficient money to provide vocational rehabilitation services to all eligible handicapped. The Beneficiary Rehabilitation Program (BRP), as it is called in Maine, will receive federal funds allowing for increased emphasis on rehabilitation services to handicapped who are recipients of Aid to the Blind or Aid to the Disabled.

The objective of the BRP is to restore the disabled to a level of self sufficiency and reduce his dependence on an SSI payment.

The expanded services will include eight counselors who are to work with clients throughout Maine. After a person has made application to SSI for Aid to the Disabled, and if he or she has potential rehabilitation needs, the client will be offered the opportunity to work directly with the counselor in his area.

Any disabled person may make application for Aid to the Disabled at the nearest Social Security Office. Social Security is listed in the phone directory under U. S. Government.

New counselors, presently working at the district offices of the Bureau of Rehabilitation, are:

Philip Smith located in Sanford covering York County; David Hicks, Portland, Cumberland County; Burton Lamb, Ellsworth, Hancock, Washington and Waldo Counties; Christopher Eldridge, Rockland, Knox, Lincoln and Sagadahoc Counties; Lionel Marcotte, Lewiston, Androscoggin, Oxford and Franklin Counties; Robert Nevins, Hallowell, Kennebec and Somerset Counties; Mary Lee Rounds, Bangor, Penobscot and Piscataquis Counties; Earl Langeley, Presque Isle, Aroostook County.

SIZE OF CANOEING PARTIES ON ALLAGASH WILDERNESS
WATERWAY TO BE REDUCED

The size of parties canoeing down the Allagash Wilderness Waterway will be reduced during the coming season. The restriction was announced last week by Lawrence Stuart, director of the Bureau of Parks and Recreation of the Maine Department of Conservation.

"This is one of two substantive changes in the rules this year," Stuart said.

According to Stuart the restriction in party size is being made in an effort to preserve the wilderness experience of the Waterway. The Waterway has received increased use over the last several years. The number of visitors has increased from about 4,000 in 1969 to over 9,000 in 1973. This increase in the number of people on the Waterway has led to overcrowding in some areas at peak periods.

"We hope that by limiting the size of any one party to 12 people including leaders and/or guides we will be able to alleviate some of the problems. Realizing that this restriction could present a financial hardship to some of those who have been earning a living by guiding parties, we have made provision for permitting larger groups who have been using the Waterway for the past three years consecutively to get advance permission to exceed this limit. The conditions for this dispensation can be obtained from the Bureau in Augusta. This is a pilot program for us and we will be watching it very closely during the year," Stuart said.

The other major change according to Bureau of Parks and Recreation officials is the institution of a one-dollar registration fee for each person using the Waterway with a boat or canoe. The increased use of the Waterway has made it necessary to attempt to defray the cost of some of the programs there, according to Thomas Dickens, Supervisor of the Bureau's Operations and Maintenance Division. He catalogued some of the programs as the installation of fifty pit-type toilets at authorized campsites. The entire campsite program is being re-evaluated. Many are being eliminated due to erosion and other deterioration caused by years of heavy use.

New campsites are being created to replace the closed ones. The new ones will be screened from the water to enhance the wilderness experience of the trip. Each campsite will be primitive again to be in keeping with the overall tone of the Waterway. Each will, however, be planned to include a fireplace, table and toilet.

"In line with this, we feel that one dollar per person will be small

VIETNAM ERA VETERANS
REMINDED OF DENTAL CARE AVAILABLE

Vietnam Era veterans needing dental care are presumed to be service connected and therefore eligible to receive dental treatment at Veterans Administration expense provided:

—they apply to the VA within one year after their discharge, and —they were discharged or retired under conditions other than dishonorable.

This general eligibility covers sufficient treatment at VA expense to put the veteran's teeth into good condition one time. It does not extend to treatment for dental conditions that obviously existed before the veteran entered military service, VA officials pointed out.

Veterans who have special eligibility for continuing VA dental treatment, and for whom the one year application limit does not apply, include:

—those receiving VA compensation for dental conditions.

—those whose dental conditions resulted from combat wounds or service injuries.

—those who were prisoners of war.

VA said that in addition, any veteran discharged or retired under conditions other than dishonorable may receive VA dental treatment reasonably necessary to obviate the need for hospital admission, provided he cannot afford to pay for the necessary care elsewhere.

Denn Walker plans to leave today (Thursday) for Sacramento, Calif., to spend three weeks with Howie Whitten.

enough not to seriously inconvenience anyone and at the same time will be large enough to contribute an estimated $10,000 to the General Fund towards the cost of our program in the Allagash Wilderness Waterway," Dickens stated.

Several other minor and procedural changes were also announced. Park officials cautioned anyone contemplating using the Waterway to be sure to consult up to date copies of the Rules before beginning the trip. Copies will be available from the office in Augusta or from rangers on the Waterway itself.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce E. Young

YOUNG - HUTCHINSON

In a ceremony performed by Rev. James Nason at the Bethel Methodist Church on October 20, 1973, Miss Sherry Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bordeau, Norwich, Conn., became the bride of Bruce E. Young. Mr. Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Young of Bethel.

The bride chose a full length gown of silk faced peau and imported lace, fashioned with empress bodice, Victorian collar and bishop sleeves. Bands of lace accented the belled skirt and chapel length train. Her bouffant veil of imported illusion was attached to a camelot cap of scalloped lace accented with satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of white, yellow and lavender poms, with pink sweetheart roses.

Attendants included, as maid of honor, Miss Karen Hathaway, and bridesmaids, the Misses Martha Hutchinson, Alice Smith, and Judy
